Venice International University is an international center of higher education and research which was founded in 1995. On its campus on the Island of San Servolo in Venice, Italy, a community of international professors, researchers and students come together in a young and dynamic environment where they engage in topics common to the various programs.

The shared aims of the members focus VIU's activities on the themes of competitiveness, the environment and subsidiarity through innovative forms of education and applied research. These topics are developed in all of the academic programs. The approach of the research and academic community engaged in VIU activities to the different topics guarantees the exchange and circulation of knowledge and experience.