Workshops and seminars are important ancillary activities of TEN, designed to disseminate the knowledge acquired, to further strengthen the network and to initiate new cooperation programs.

In this respect, TEN is conceived as a knowledge-sharing platform promoting international dialogue and exchange of know-how on Sustainabile Development. In recent years, Chinese Economy and Environmental Security have been central topics in a series of workshops and seminars promoted by the Center

TEN also hosts international seminars and conferences on a variety of topics linked to Sustainable Development and promoted by outstanding institutions.

This activity offers the opportunity to establish new contacts and cooperation with important institutions in the field of Sustainable Development.
