Learning Circles
Do you remember the old cultural meeting? So learning circles would be a place where people meet and talk in an informal way about some topics and where everybody say their point of view. It is a peer to peer exchange. You do not need specific knowledge, just curiosity and a will to exchange skills and experience with other students.

School of Creativity.
This is developed within the Learning Circle initiative. A new market revolution where users are not passive subject in an advertising campaign, but they share opinions about brands in a specific community. It is a challenge where VIU and Ca' Foscari student can develop their creativity.
